New Water Treatment Facility Project Begins

The City of Westminster is beginning design and construction of our new water treatment facility. This investment will extend the life of Westminster's aging water infrastructure and provide clean, safe, and affordable drinking water for future generations of Westminster residents. After the community raised concerns about affordability, the City carefully reevaluated the project and identified nearly $100 million in cost savings for the project. We also cut water rates for all residents, and capped future rate adjustments to 4.5% or less annually over the next ten years. We will continue to ensure that water remains affordable for our community. To stay in the loop, sign up for The Westy, our monthly newsletter.
